New Canon Law of Catholic Church Against Hasty Marriage.

Approved by Pope and Imposes New Obligation Upon Priests.

Pastor May Refuse to Perform Ceremony in a Given Case.

VATICAN FOOD CONSERVATION

"No more surprise marriages," is one of the outstanding features of the new Canon Code which has received the Pontifical approval. It is sure to work very many changes in Canon Law, especially where marriage is concerned. Not the least important is the veto on surprise marriages. Young couples in a hurry may no longer rush off with a license (or without for that matter), and get a priest to marry them. The officiating priest is no longer a mere witness to the union which he blesses; he is now and henceforth a consenter of a dispensation. His name must be written upon the marriage license; if he sees good reason to refuse marriage he may do so, but if his name fails to be on the license the marriage is null and void. The only exception to this rule is in the case of a parochial vicar, whose name need not be specified on the license, but he alone may perform marriage in such a case.

The commission whose work for years has been the reformation of Canon Law had in mind hasty marriages between young people especially, and sometimes older ones as well, because many who marry in haste repeat at leisure and apply to the Vatican for annulment of their ties. For the same reason the age limit had been raised by two years. Formerly a boy of fourteen might marry a girl of twelve; now the boy must be at least sixteen and the girl fourteen before a priest may marry them. Of course this early age is set for Catholics who are natives of countries where people mature far sooner than they do in America and in most parts of Europe. Bearing this in mind, the new Canon urges all priests living in Western countries to preach against early marriage and use their influences against boy and girl unions as much as possible.

On the other hand, marriage is made easier in some respects. For instance, Catholic priests were not allowed to perform marriage between Advent and Epiphany. Now marriages may be performed on Christmas day till the first day of Lent. Bishops may give dispensation for Lent and Advent marriages as well if they see good cause to do so. They may also substitute notices of approaching marriages, to be put outside church doors, instead of the old custom of calling the banns for three Sundays in the church. The notices must be affixed for eight days, and in such a way that they are there for two Sundays. Marriage should not take place till three days after the notice has been taken down.

Considerable modifications have been made with regard to impediments to marriage between certain persons. By Canon 1,042 of the code these impediments are now grouped into two classes—of the minor degree and the major. Those in the minor degree can be abrogated at the discretion of a Bishop; the major impediments are immutable. Formerly this distinction did not exist in form, though it did in fact, whereas abrogation was possible in some cases if the matter was brought before the Pontifical administration. Minor impediments include consanguinity to the third degree, affinity to the second degree of the collateral line, public dishonesty and crime.

Impediments of the major degree are vows of chastity taken by one or both of the contracting parties; mixed religion and legal parentage, where the civil law of the land would cause the marriage to be illicit, and not null. Disparity of cult forms an insurmountable barrier; but this has always been part and parcel of Canon law relating to marriage. The laws relating to divorce remain substantially unaltered. That means that the Catholic church admits no divorce of any sort, only separation. But the Sacred Rota has still power to annul marriages which have been performed in contravention to Canon Law, and in some cases when the marriage has not been consummated.

While the municipal bodies of most Italian cities are still arranging for bread tickets, the system has been working in the Vatican for some months. The idea came from Pope Benedict himself. When some weeks ago the 600,000 within the Bronze Gates asked for increased pay to meet the high price of living the Pope refused. He explained that the Holy See has been terribly impoverished by three years' warfare. Peter's Pence no longer pours into the Pontifical treasury as before. One of the most generous donors, Belgium, is in no condition to give her contribution as of old, and will probably be unable to do so for many years. France is too impoverished to give aid. Austria and Germany, too, America also has fallen off, probably because the submarine campaign has made pilgrimages impossible, pilgrimage revolution in Russia.

REPUBLICANS

Have Already Shown Inability to Handle the City's Affairs.

Car Company Comes Forward With Proposed Holdup of People.

Hert and Searcy Factions Are Gripped In Fight For Pie.

DEMOCRATS NOT DISMAYED

With the session of the Legislature drawing near all eyes are being turned toward Frankfort, while the politicians are working overtime to secure control and indefinitely elect friends and followers to the different berths. Previous to and immediately following the election the Forward Leaguers and Haly-Beckham political prohibitionists were claiming everything in sight, but after all the returns had simmered in it developed that they had cut a sorry figure in the recent election, and that with everyone agreed on the submissim of the prohibition amendment the chief asset of their claim to political strength has been withdrawn. Incidentally one of the big figures in the coming session of the General Assembly is Col. "Billy" Klar, who swept the platter clean at Lexington with a municipal slate and in addition was elected as Representative. With a voice on the floor coupled with his parliamentary experience, second to none, it goes without saying that the political prohibitionists will have hard sledding in the near future. Gov. Stanley and Col. Klar are bosom friends and when the Stanley-Klar combination meets the Haly-Beckham duo it is safe to take a ticket on the former.

As an echo of the pernicious influence of the Haly-Beckham team in Louisville politics, and which every loyal Democrat hopes will be the last, is the action taken by them in regard to the proposed contest. While the question was still unsettled the political prohibitionists came to Louisville and fought the proposed contest tooth and nail, simply and solely that in the event the contest was carried to a successful issue Gov. Stanley would have the appointment of the Mayor, County Judge and a few other officials. This is something for the Louisville Democrats to ponder on.

The Haly-Beckham machine cared nothing for the future of the many city and county Democrats whose positions were at stake in a contest, but only of its enmity to Gov. Stanley. Early and often the movement to give the Haly-Beckham regime a foothold in Louisville politics was opposed in these columns, and now wherever Democratic politics are discussed the comment is heard that "the Kentucky Irish American was right," and it was the intention not to refer to past mistakes and say "I told you so," but the parting shot of the Haly-Beckham machine was the last straw.

Wherever Democrats gather the spirit prevails of "let bygones be bygones" and their faces are turned toward the future. Suggestions are being made for party plans in the future by the Louisville Times, which gives prominent to the opinion of an ex-Democrat who assisted the Republicans in 1909 by running on an independent ticket. The writer was modest in his demands, considering the fact that he was a rank outsider wanting the Democratic Committee from top to bottom to hand in their resignations. Others who have more right amend this by saying that the District Chairman and precinct committeemen, who have been obtaining poor results the last few campaigns, should immediately tender their resignations to the City and County Committees. This is said without any malice, and no man should block future progress of the Democratic party by a dog-in-the-manger policy. As in war it should be in politics—the general who can't deliver victories is retired to the ranks, his retirement not being a disgrace, but an acknowledgement that fresh blood is needed.

The brightest indication of future Democratic success, and long continued success at that, is the joke Republican administration just inaugurated at the City Hall and which promises to provide the biggest kind of burlesque. The only drawback to the humorous side is that it will be costly to the taxpayers and a drawback to the city progress. Right off the reel the new Board of Safety sends to Cincinnati for a Fire Chief, then appoints a resident of Shelbyville as Police Chief, while the Republican platform contained a pledge of "patronize home industry." Col. Petty, the new Police Chief, is referred to lovingly by Ed Shinnick in the Shelbyville News as "Our Lud," and despite the fact that the laws says the Chief must be a resident of Louisville, Col. Petty registered and voted in Shelbyville. The next surprise sprung is when the Louisville Railway Company comes forward with a request of the new administration that the company be allowed to hold up the public by charging one cent for transfers. Accidental Mayor Smith when queried about this said he knew nothing of the proposed holdup, and the reform organ, the Louisville Herald, came forward with a statement as to how necessary it was for the car company to get more funds.

Another little cause for merriment is the hounding of Searcy and Chilton by the Junior Order boys for political pie. Thus far Hert, the big boss, named Johnson Chairman of the Board of Safety and Petty as Chief of Police to aid his Senatorial ambition, neither of whom are identified with the wild-eyed Juniors, and the only rewards received by the latter thus far are some minor positions that Dave Rose and Searcy have been able to grab. As all know, Hert forced the Searcy-Chilton machine to drop Maas for Mayor, thereby giving him first call on Smith, but the friends of Searcy say that with a lot of his friends at the political crib a "defi" will be issued to Hert in the near future. Democrats can afford to look with glee on the daily burlesque and next year can look forward confidently to the election of a Congressman, Judge of the Court of Appeals and City Treasurer, the Democrats who were beguiled into voting the Republican ticket now manifesting their sorrow over their mistake. Certainly the step taken by the Moose Green Club Wednesday night in pledging unwavering loyalty to Frank McGrath, Chairman of the Democratic Committee, augurs well for the future.

RECENT DEATHS.

Miss Margaret McGough, thirty-one years old, who had been long ill following a stroke of paralysis, was released from suffering Wednesday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary McGough, 402 North Twenty-first street. She was a woman of excellent character and leaves many who mourn her death.

Monday morning the funeral of John McLaughlin, seventy-two years old, was held from the Sacred Heart church, of which he had long been a member. The deceased had suffered a long illness and was fully prepared for the call into eternal rest. He resided at 720 South Twenty-second street and leaves several children.

St. Patrick's congregation mourns the death of Miss Dahlia B. Dahl, who passed away Saturday evening after a long illness borne with Christian fortitude. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Edward Walker and Mrs. Thomas McHugh. Her funeral was held Monday morning at St. Patrick's church, where for years she was a regular attendant.

Sympathy of many friends is tendered Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Tompkins, 319 North Thirtieth street, in the death of their son, Louis H. Tompkins, following a three weeks' illness of pneumonia. Besides his parents he leaves two brothers, Clarence and William, and one sister, Miss Annabelle Tompkins. The funeral was held Thursday morning with requiem high mass at St. Cecilia's church.

Miss Ellen O'Brien, the oldest member of St. Agnes church, was called into eternal rest Monday at her home in the Bardstown road. Miss O'Brien was born in Ireland eighty-five years ago, but had lived in Louisville from early childhood. She leaves but one survivor, Mrs. J. W. Chase, with whom she made her home. Her funeral was held Wednesday morning with requiem high mass at St. Agnes church.

Tuesday the Angel of Death called Mrs. Elsie N. Noonan, beloved wife of John Noonan, at the family residence, 1034 South Fifteenth street. Her funeral was held yesterday morning from Sacred Heart church, Rev. Patrick Walsh celebrating the requiem mass, when the body was taken to Frankfort for burial. To the bereaved husband is tendered the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

LEAVE FOR FRONT.

First Lieut. Frank Barton and Scott Duncan, well known Louisville boys, left Tuesday night for New York, from where they will sail to join the American aviation forces "somewhere in France." Both were formerly with the First Kentucky, now at Fort Shelby, Lieut. Barton, who saw service on the Mexican border, is the son of Fred Barton and grandson of Mrs. Margaret Justa. Among the first to go into the Officers' Reserve at Fort Ben Harrison, young Barton entered the aviation branch of the service and his ability and fitness soon won him his commission. That each will do credit to Louisville and Kentucky is certain, and that they will soon return victorious is the earnest hope of all who know them.

DEATH CAUSES GRIEF.

The sad news was received here Tuesday night of the death of Miss Louise A. Fackler at the Misericordia Hospital in New York City, where she had been ill two weeks of pneumonia, and caused deep grief in Catholic circles, for many Christian virtues. Miss Fackler had visited Rome and the great religious houses of Europe and was inclined to the religious life, and for some time had been a nurse in the hospital where she died. She was a daughter of the late John and Marguerite Fackler, of Louisville. Surviving her are one brother, Joe Fackler, of Jeffersonville, Ind., and three sisters, Mrs. E. M. Drake, of Jeffersonville; Mrs. E. J. Bosler and Miss Lillie Fackler, of Louisville. The body was brought to Louisville, arriving Thursday evening, and the funeral takes place this morning from St. Brigid's church.

ALUMNI REUNION.

Leading prelates and priests from many parts of the United States gathered Wednesday for the reunion of the alumni of St. Mary's Seminary for priests at Baltimore. Cardinal Gibbons presided. Mgr. H. T. Drummole, rector of the Seminary of St. Charles Borromeo at Overbrook, in an address declared the necessity for every Catholic to do his utmost in the war. He appealed to the priests present and all allies who, he stated, ministered to 20,000,000 Catholics in the United States, to co-operate in every way with the President and help win the war. Officers elected were: President, Monsignor E. A. Kelly, of Chicago; Vice President, the Rev. F. B. O'Donnell, of Boston, and the Very Rev. E. R. Dyer, of Baltimore; Secretary, the Very Rev. E. L. Belford, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Treasurer, Mgr. W. A. Fletcher, of Baltimore.

But Father Magrath hasn't devoted all his energy to saving the lives of those in danger of death in the water; he has been instrumental in saving the lives of those on land as well. It is a matter of record that on February 16, 1914, while out walking, the priest discovered a fire in a boarding house at 5 Weehawken street. When informed that the premises were occupied by a number of sleeping sailors, Father Magrath rushed into the building and carried out four, who had overcome by smoke. At the same time he awakened several others. It is also to his credit that he has saved from serious injury two women who had at different times been attacked by mad dogs.

Father Magrath has devoted considerable time and energy to the betterment of the neighborhood in which his mission is situated. He has been particularly active in bringing to justice those who have made a practice of selling cocaine and other narcotics to seamen. At one time this trade flourished along West street, but since the "Fighting Priest" became active, the trade has been more or less unprofitable. If seamen want narcotics they now have to look for them elsewhere.

Father Magrath is a native New Yorker, a graduate of Manhattan College and was ordained at St. Joseph's Seminary in 1906.

REWARDED

Cardinal Farley Appoints Father Magrath an Irremovable Rector.

Is to Remain in Charge of the Catholic Seaman's Mission.

Won Fame as "Fighting Priest" When Protecting Our Seaman.

HAS RESCUED MANY FROM FIRES

As a reward for faithful services performed as head of the Catholic Seamen's Mission on West street Cardinal Farley has appointed the Rev. Philip J. Magrath, rector of St. Brigid's church, Eighth street and Avenue B, New York City. The present rector, the Rev. Thomas F. Duffy, has been relieved of the post because of ill health and Father Magrath becomes an irremovable rector. Father Magrath, however, will remain in charge of the mission on West street, Cardinal Farley being of the opinion that the stocky priest is capable of managing both positions.

Father Magrath's appointment to the rectorship of a well known church such as St. Brigid's after eleven years of service as a priest in the New York archdiocese is welcome news to his many friends. But it is even better news to the longshoremen on West street that Father Magrath will retain his position as head of the Catholic mission, where he has done much to better their condition since he assumed charge just ten years ago. It is justly claimed that there isn't a seafaring man in the world who is not acquainted personally with or hasn't heard of Father Magrath. Nearly all the Catholic seamen when they touch at this port bend their steps in the direction of the mission and the welcome sign is always out for them.

Probably there is no more interesting character in the entire archdiocese than Father Phil Magrath, the "Fighting Priest," as he is known from one end of the archdiocese to the other. His prowess as a fighter for all that is right and proper, literally speaking, is especially known in the region in which his mission is situated. Ten years of battling with the thugs and gangsters who imagined that they were going to covet this Catholic priest the same as they had private citizens made his name one to be conjured with in the region.

Principally through the expert use of his big fists and brawny arms he has shown these thugs and gangsters their place and now the neighborhood is safe for the seamen who wander into it. But if it hadn't been for the efforts of Father Magrath the district today would be unsafe for one not well protected.

Besides using his fists to good advantage when the occasion demanded Father Magrath has an enviable reputation as a life saver. On more than one occasion he has plunged into the dark waters of the Hudson to save life. In May, 1914, he saved George Cortises from drowning in the Hudson; in September of the same year he saved the life of a woman bather, Mrs. George J. Gunther, at Woodland Beach, Staten Island, and in March, 1915, after finishing vespers in the mission, he saved the life of Policeman John Connell, who had plunged into the Hudson to rescue a Russian named Justus Ustun.

But Father Magrath hasn't devoted all his energy to saving the lives of those in danger of death in the water; he has been instrumental in saving the lives of those on land as well. It is a matter of record that on February 16, 1914, while out walking, the priest discovered a fire in a boarding house at 5 Weehawken street. When informed that the premises were occupied by a number of sleeping sailors, Father Magrath rushed into the building and carried out four, who had overcome by smoke. At the same time he awakened several others. It is also to his credit that he has saved from serious injury two women who had at different times been attacked by mad dogs.

DISPROVES VILE STATEMENT.

The theory that it is impossible to be at the same time a good Catholic and a loyal citizen of the State has, over and over again, been disproved; but if anything was needed to bring before the world and this republic in particular a refutation of the well-worn statement, it is the information secured from statistics recently received from the various cantonments and camps, which claim that of every three men now in the service one is a Catholic.

While obedience and regard for the constitution and an open allegiance to the Government are debts owed by each citizen, these need in no wise conflict with his obligations toward his Creator. A faithful son of the Church is always a worthy citizen of the State. Love of one's faith is not estranged from love of one's country. To show us our position in the matter we have the words of Christ Himself, for to the would-be ensnaring Pharisee He said: "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

In following such command we are safe. Our conscience will always point the way; let us love and respect our republic, but let us never neglect the duty we owe to God, for as the State regulates man's conduct as a member of the social body, so does the Church direct him for his spiritual welfare here and his eternal happiness hereafter.

THREATENING.

Replying to John Redmond's accusation that the Government policy "was increasing the difficulties of all parties at the Irish convention," Chief Secretary Duke declared that "200,000 Irishmen were being recruited, enemies of the Empire and the Allies, for the purpose of creating a new rebellion in Ireland." The conditions stressed by Duke have alarmed the Dublin Irish Catholic, which says:

"To us it seems that unless they (Duke's charges) are entirely baseless, a very clear duty is imposed on the clergy and parents of Ireland to do whatsoever they still can to save the boys from the grip of the hangman. Any new revolt will be suppressed relentlessly, and with the full approval of all who want to see their native land preserved from passing into the hands of groups of political adventurers and hooligans who would imperil without scruple the lives and fortunes of our people, if they can thereby carry out their plans and those of the occult wire-pullers of whom they are the cat's paws."

In connection with the widespread agitation Cardinal Logue wired the English Review: "Do not approve of revolutionary action. Have no control over Sinn Feiners. Success of convention only remedy. If it fails—chaos."

OUTSIDE OF THAT.

A writer in the local Baptist World is evidently soured on the growing crop of evangelistic preachers and pays his compliments in the following:

"His bumptious egotism is intrusive, obtrusive and unspeakable. He bestrides the platform like a ruffian of the prize ring and berates the people like a desperado. His vulgarisms are low, prurient and disgustingly revolting. His jokes are stale, hoarse and coarse. His affectations are patent and puerile. He can beat the Bible into pulp, stamp the platform into splinters and pound the pulpit into smithereens and shout himself black in the face and all the time never say a sensible thing or proclaim a vital Christian truth. He may pose oddly by long hair, long clothes or too few clothes, but whatever mode his dressing assumes, it is common, almost obscene and transparently for direct effect upon the basest elements in the lowest auditors that look to a clownish performance. It is a modern weakness and a crime of the churches that such men and such methods are tolerated and spewed onward for the moment."

SOCIALISM SPELLS TREASON.

The German Socialist seems to be submitting to conscription and helping to vote war credits in the Reichstag. He is not talking peace except when the Kaiser tells him to do so. But in Russia, and somewhat in Italy, and especially here in the United States, the Socialist is talking peace and opposing conscription.

tion and doing everything against his own flag and in behalf of the Kaiser's cause. If it be true, as the Catholic Citizen observes, that the issue of the war is against plutocracy and for the democracy, we should expect the Socialist, perforce of his theories, to be with America and against the Kaiser. We should expect the Socialist in Germany to lean that way also; for nowhere in the civilized world is treated worse politically than in Prussia. But no. Either because Socialism was "made in Germany," or because it is the natural cussedness of the whole proposition, the Socialist is everywhere a traitor to the land he lives in except in Germany, where he is within reach of the Kaiser's whip; and so behaves.

GOOD MEN AND TRUE.

Citizens of all parties deplore the change of political administrations that means the loss of Fire Department Chief Tim Leahy and Night Chief of Police Major Pat Ridge, both of whom have given the best in them to the city of Louisville for over twenty-five years. Faithful and attentive to duty, brave and fearless, the Kentucky Irish American joins with the many in saying "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

WORDS OF TRUTH.

Mrs. Thomas Scallan uttered nothing but the bare truth when, speaking before the Upton Study Club at the Hotel Sinton last Friday night, she said:

"If mothers would see that girls' dresses were higher at the neck and longer in the skirt, and taught them modesty at home, there would be less criticism of the boys in uniform."

There is only one place where such a style of garb is appropriate, and to mention it here would soil the paper. The United States Government is now engaged in bringing about the abolition of all such places within five miles of camp or cantonment—Catholic Telegraph.

FLAG AND CROSS.

Those who condemn Catholics for kneeling before the crucifix (to which, by the way, they do not pray) will do well to read these words uttered by William McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. They were contained in an address delivered in New York on the first day of June:

"Let us on June 15 roll up a subscription which will be an unmistakable answer to the enemies of our country. And on June 14—Flag day—let us go out and kneel reverently to that flag, the supremacy of which is today the hope of civilization, that flag the very colors of which thrill our hearts and enoble our souls, and let us pledge ourselves anew to liberty and democracy, and self-government in the world, and swear that the flame of liberty shall never be extinguished while there is a drop of blood in the veins of any American paws."

In connection with the widespread agitation Cardinal Logue wired the English Review: "Do not approve of revolutionary action. Have no control over Sinn Feiners. Success of convention only remedy. If it fails—chaos."

Mr. J. Thixton was last week a guest at the McAlpin in New York City, where she spent several days visiting friends, doing the shops and attending the theaters.

Announcement has been made of the approaching wedding of Miss Lula Ott and William Noon, which will be solemnized at St. Mary's church in New Albany next month.

Stephen McCarthy, a well known athlete and football player, of Pittsburgh, has been here on a visit as the guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. McCarthy, of 1132 Seventh street.

Miss Clara Angemeier, who is pursuing her studies at Nazareth Academy at Bardstown, will spend the Thanksgiving week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Angemeier, in the Highlands.

The marriage of Miss Clara Louise Mueller and Walter Terstege was solemnized quietly Wednesday afternoon at the rectory of St. James church, Rev. Father Willert performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Theresa Moore, 1106 East Oak street, New Albany, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mae Moore, to Frank Cook, their marriage to take place at St. Mary's church on Thanksgiving day.

Miss Mary Winn, daughter of Col. Matt Winn, who had been in New York City for ten days visiting Miss Elsie Kennedy, on the Upper West Side, and who was given a theater party every night during her stay, left for home Saturday night.

The marriage of Miss Cora Catherine Martin and Matthew M. Mullon will take place at St. Patrick's church Thanksgiving afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and many friends of this popular young couple will be on hand to wish them luck in their matrimonial venture.

COMING EVENTS.

November 26-27—Annual Thanksgiving entertainment of St. Boniface Men's Society.

November 28—Euchre, lotto and turkey raffle by Men's Society of St. Leo's church, Highland Park.

November 28—Games and social by Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Ann's church, afternoon and evening.

January 15-16—Annual charity social of Ladies' Sewing Society for St. Anthony's Hospital.

people will be on hand to wish them luck in their matrimonial venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hillerich, formerly of this city but now residents of Chattanooga, Tenn., are here for a visit to friends and relatives and are guests of Miss Lena Hillerich, 179 North Peterson avenue. Mr. Hillerich now holds a position in the Government service.

Mr. Phil J. Hendrick entertained last week with a miscellaneous shower and "500" party in honor of her niece, Miss Marie Schaefer, the invitations being limited to friends of Miss Schaefer, who is a bride-to-be. Misses Louise Goepper, Thelma Hess, Marguerite E. Schaefer, Olga A. Ried, Lydia M. Kohn, Mary McCann, Mary Baldwin, Marie Gladys Conner, Alice Baumgarten, Ruth Kehl, Mary McLean, Julia Snyder, Dorothy Feggenbush, Marie Schaefer; Mesdames N. E. Goepper, C. Cimolli, D. S. Niman, and N. McDaniel were the guests.

REASONS FOR THANKS.

Here are a few of the reasons some of our prominent citizens will give thanks for next Thursday: Gov. A. O. Stanley—That his administration thus far has been a success in every way.

Reformatory Warden Mack Phelan—That his many friends come to see him as visitors and not guests.

Ex-Mayor Buschmeyer—That he has come to a successful business administration of four years.

Senator Will Perry, Representatives Ben Beckmann, Will McDonagh, Squires John O'Brien and Hugo Schultz—That they escaped the Republican landslide.

Mike McDermott and Tom Dolan—That they were "also rans" in the primary.

Charles McDevitt—That he has a little playmate since Charles J. Jr., arrived.

Grand Knight Tom Cline—That the soldier boys appreciate the K. of C. club rooms at Camp Zachary Taylor.

County President John Hennessy—That the A. O. H. is getting new members and the old ones attending more regularly.

Vic Ecker—That the Chesterfield Minstrels made a big hit with the soldier boys.

Will Connelly and Louis Strobel—That they don't get any more shooting gallery cigars.

The Louisville Railway Company—That they can ask for a raise in carfare with the Republican administration.

Tom Dolan, the tobacco man—That the Prohibitionists haven't gone after tobacco yet.

Charlie Hill—That he is still able to pay the war tax in attending the picture shows.

Matt Muldoon—That he is deserting the bachelors' ranks.

Tom Calahan—That he has been among the euchre prize winners so often.

Ossie Garrity—That the fellows in Trinity Council can't trail him when he calls on his lady friend at Gethsemane.

Jack McGrath (Charlie Chaplin)—That the soldiers can only outshine him on Fourth avenue Wednesday and Saturday.

Gen. M. Reichert—That his golden wedding anniversary brought many old friends together.

John J. Furey—That he didn't get lost on his first trip away from home.

Many Democratic city ex-employees—That they have umbrellas and mackintoshes for the proverbial rainy days.

Manager Al Spayd—That Mackin's long distance runners are sure to be in the money.

Dr. J. A. Casper—That Sherley Cuniffe has quit giving him tips on the ponies.

"Bud" O'Brien and Merlin Hogan—That they are in demand as best men at weddings.

CAMP TAYLOR NEWS.

This has been an active week in entertainment of the soldier boys at the three K. of C. buildings at each building there was a different programme every night, in which were included basketball, wrestling and boxing matches, minstrels, choir rehearsals, movie pictures, musicals, special stunts. In the city on Wednesday night there were numerous attractions for the boys in kahki, notably the dance given for them by the Columbia Athletic Club at Trinity Council Hall.

The masses last Sunday morning were well attended and hundreds received holy communion. Here it is well to state that the masses in the Auditorium are at 8 and 9 o'clock, in Building 2 at 8:15, and in Building 3 at 6 o'clock. Breakfasts are served after these masses by the Queen's Daughters.

Though not on the main company street Building 3, presided over by Albert T. O'Daly, is fast growing in popularity and is now the rendezvous for soldiers from all parts of the camp and many visitors. His genial manner makes all feel at home.

THE HOLY SEE.

According to Associated Press dispatches the question is being asked in various quarters in Rome, especially in Vatican circles, if Pope Benedict intends to leave Rome and Italy. If the Pontiff should take this step it would be due to the difficulty of taking the attitude he desires to take with regard to the war as long as he resides in a belligerent country in spite of all the efforts made by the Italian Government to guarantee his complete liberty and independence. It is asserted that pourparlers have taken place with regard to the Pope going to Spain as a guest of King Alfonso. The present is not the first time that the possibility of the Holy See leaving Italy has been discussed. In the concile which elected Leo XIII, all the Cardinals except eight including the late Cardinal Hohenlohe, a brother of the late German Chancellor, Prince von Hohenlohe—were favorable to going outside of Italy for the election of a new Pontiff. Nothing, however, was done in this respect, and since then Rome and the Papacy have seemed indissoluble.

Miss Mary Winn, daughter of Col. Matt Winn, who had been in New York City for ten days visiting Miss Elsie Kennedy, on the Upper West Side, and who was given a theater party every night during her stay, left for home Saturday night.

The marriage of Miss Cora Catherine Martin and Matthew M. Mullon will take place at St. Patrick's church Thanksgiving afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and many friends of this popular young couple will be on hand to wish them luck in their matrimonial venture.

HEAD CHAPLAIN'S TOUR.

Rev. Lewis J. O'Hern, C. S. P., who represents the hierarchy in the appointment of chaplains to the army and navy, has left Washington on a tour of inspection of all cantonments and encampments in the United States to inquire whether there are a sufficient number of priests in each camp and facilities for conducting divine service. Just when he will visit Camp Zachary Taylor is not yet known.

SECURE YOUR TURKEY.

Next Tuesday night the men of St. Francis of Assisi congregation will entertain the people of the parish and their friends with a delightful "turkey disposal." The lotto games will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and there will be no charge for admission. A luncheon will be served by the ladies during and after the social games, costing only fifteen cents.

WILL TAKE VEIL.

Miss Stella B. Naville, a most highly esteemed and popular young lady of Navilleton, Ind., left last week for Syracuse, N. Y., to enter the convent of the Franciscan Sisters. Miss Naville has been organist at St. Mary's church at Navilleton for several years.

JOHN ROSS SICK.

John Ross, a veteran of the civil war and for many years well known in the shoe business here, who has been in the city for some time past on a furlough from the Soldiers' Home at Milwaukee, is quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Selman, Stilz lane.

SOCIAL CLUB DANCE.

Mackin Social Club will give its last dance of the fall season on Thanksgiving eve. They have all been enjoyed by large numbers of young people, and this is expected to be the most successful of the series.

VISITS SOUTHERN HOUSES.

Mother General Rose, of Nazareth, accompanied by Sister Gonzales, who is her own sister, is now in the South on a visitation to the numerous houses of her order in that section. They will not return for several weeks.

ST. BONIFACE.

Monday and Tuesday the men of St. Boniface congregation will give their annual entertainment in the parish hall on Fehr avenue. These affairs are always enjoyable, and this year the men are making unusual efforts to have these evenings a success.

LLOYD GEORGE.

Indignation in England over Lloyd George's confession of incredible blundering on the part of the Allies may drive the Premier from his post. He has only acknowledged what has been patent to the world for months past. The Allies have been waging war separately thus far and the results are to say the least—far from satisfactory.

BLIND JESUIT PRIEST.

Pope Benedict has granted to Henry Woffling, a member of the Society of Jesus, and blind for the last nine years, the dearest hope of his life. Before a month passes Woffling will be ordained a priest of the Catholic church. That this might be accomplished the Pope has ignored the precedent. The Catholic law orders that those who serve in the priesthood must be at the time of their ordination as nearly perfect as possible, physically as well as mentally. Woffling is certainly the first blind man ever to be admitted to the priesthood in America, perhaps in the world. It was his blindness which turned Woffling to intimate service in the church of which he will become a priest within the next month. Nine years ago, when he was only twenty-five, he was professor of chemistry in Canisius College, Boston. During an experiment the chemicals exploded and Woffling was blinded for life. Immediately he turned to the church and entered Woodstock College, the famous Jesuit seminary in Maryland. Sightless, he was not discouraged nor apparently hampered, for he stood with the first men in his class. From Woodstock he went to Georgetown to continue his theological studies. Here he won honors not only for his ability, but for his unfailing patience and cheerfulness. Eighteen months ago he came to the Church of St. Francis Xavier in New York City.

WHERE ALL ARE EQUAL.

Only in the Catholic church is it practically demonstrated that "a man's a man for a' that." Clothes make no difference in the confessional. At the altar rail the man tatters is welcome and the woman with a shawl over her head is on an equality with the lady whose head is covered with feathers and flowers.

Since then he has been giving instructions to converts. "He has always been hopeful; never has he exhibited a tinge of melancholy," said Father White, of St. Francis Xavier. Friends of the blind man knew of his great ambition. Some of them let the Pope know it, and the head of the church passed long enough amid the tremendous problems which now confront him to grant the dispensation. On Saturday Cardinal Gaspari, Papal Secretary of State, cabled the news that made a patient blind man happy.

FIGHTING SHERIDAN.

As a notable example of American patriotism of which fortunately war has produced so many instances—the case of Philip Henry Sheridan is conspicuous. His inability to obtain an officer's commission at Plattsburg was precluded alone by his age, as young Sheridan is but twenty-three years old. However, he sought no officer's commission, for mixing with the boys quite answered his desire. Soon after war was declared and upon hearing that the Irish New York Sixty-ninth Infantry, now known as the 165th Infantry, would be first to go to France, young Phil was quick to resign his position in the office of his brother, Arthur C. Sheridan, a New York real estate broker, and don a khaki uniform in order to do his "bit." He is related to and named after the great Gen. Phil Sheridan, of civil war fame, and is a Fordham College man.

GREAT REPORT.

The full report of the fourteenth annual meeting of the Catholic Educational Association, held last June in Buffalo, is now before us, and it more than justifies the eulogy already pronounced by the press. When we analyze, year after year, the work done by this association for the cause of Catholic education; when we realize what it means to bring together the priests, brothers, sisters and Catholic laity who are interested in our schools, we begin to understand what Archbishop Spalding meant when he referred to the Catholic school system beginning in the grammar grades and culminating in the university, as the most remarkable phenomenon of the church in this century. There was a time when Catholics had little reason to be proud of their schools, at least as far as material equipment is concerned; but that day is passed, and most of our schools have all that they need in the way of material as well as moral strength to make them what they are meant to be—a source of strength to the church and to the nation. Containing the papers read at Buffalo, it is indeed a great report.

LOTTO PARTY.

Alfredette Council, Degree of Pocahontas, will give a lotto party for a worthy cause at its hall on Tuesday, November 27, afternoon and night. Games called at 2:30 and 8:30. Many beautiful prizes will be awarded and all who attend are assured a pleasant time.

FORTY HOURS.

In Louisville the Forty Hours' devotion begins with high mass tomorrow morning at St. Mary Magdalene church, Brook street, and will continue until Tuesday. For these beautiful and impressive services Mrs. Fred Harig will arrange the musical program, to be rendered by a selected choir. Father Gausepohl, the pastor, will be assisted by a number of priests of the diocese.

BEQUEST TO POPE BENEDICT.

Engelbert Metzger, a barber, of St. Louis, who died recently, left $1,000 to Pope Benedict XV., or his successor, the will being made some time ago. In addition he left $700 for a clock in the tower of St. Henry's German Catholic church of St. Louis, and $300 to the pastor for masses.

GOOD BOOK.

"The Parish Theater," by Rev. John Talbot Smith, LL.D., is the title of a book that is most interesting and will be specially welcomed by amateur stage directors. In it is given a brief account of the rise of the parish theater, its present condition and its prospects, to which is added a descriptive list of 100 choice plays. It is from the press of Longmans, Green & Co., New York. Bound in cloth, $1.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.

Blouse collars of white satin are still in high vogue.

Tinsel brocades are extensively used for hats, bags and evening gowns.

Fringes made from slashed fabrics have become the ornament of the hour.

Elimination of buttons and hooks and eyes and introduction of gowns that slip over the head and are tied at the waist have given joy, comfort and interest.

Capeline hats, with very high crowns caught by a chin strap reproduce the lines familiar in old portraits, and are just as becoming today as they were generations ago.

The smartest afternoon gowns have large buttonholes from neck to waist, through which are run pieces of braid or plaid-edged ribbon tying the two fronts together.

Pockets and collars are an important feature in design both for dresses and coats. Even fur coats are embellished with modish pockets, and women like the novelty of this.

It is quite faddish to match up the hat, gloves and shoes, as also brown and tan are especially liked both for white costumes and contrasts, this tone marks many of these matching sets.

One notices many fanciful and

TURKEY RAFFLE.

A turkey raffle, euchre and lotto will be given under the auspices of St. Patrick's congregation next Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evening in the new school hall, Sixteenth and Market streets, the games to be called at 2:30 and 8 o'clock. The Committee of Arrangements have secured many big gobblers for both days and all are invited to come and try for their big Thanksgiving turkey while having a good time in addition.

BISHOP HARKINS.

The Right Rev. Matthew Harkins, Catholic Bishop of Providence, was seventy-two years old Saturday. Bishop Harkins was ordained in 1869, and was consecrated April 14, 1887. The diocese comprises the State of Rhode Island and has a Catholic population of about 300,000.

OWENSBORO.

The Rev. J. R. Clark, O. P., will tomorrow close a successful week's mission at St. Paul's church, Owensboro, which was in preparation for the celebration of the silver jubilee of the pastorate of Rev. Father Edward S. Fitzgerald, which will take place next week.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

More than 3,000 members of the Ancient Order of Massachusetts are in war service.

There are a good many members of the A. O. H. in the drafted men at Camp Zachary Taylor.

A big class is expected to receive the degrees at the initiation in Bertrand Hall Wednesday night.

The initiation entertainment committee is preparing quite a surprise for the members Wednesday.

Next Thursday many divisions will have solemn requiem mass in memory of deceased members of the order.

Divisions 1 and 3 of Omaha had a successful initiation Sunday, with a number of candidates from Ingomar.

Many divisions will have exercises in honor of the memory of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, the Manchester martyrs.

Squire John J. O'Brien and Representative-elect William P. McDonough, of Division 4, were successful in the recent election.

After adding eight members to its rolls Division 45 of Boston voted to keep all who have joined the colors in good standing.

Division 71 of Boston has forwarded Christmas parcels to its soldier members who are at the front "somewhere in France."

All members are invited to Division 4's meeting next Monday night, when an organ will be presented to the Camp Zachary Taylor chaplain.

Tomorrow the Hibernians of Portland, Ore., will celebrate on an elaborate scale the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the order in that city.

All hands are busy in San Francisco in their efforts to aid the Hibernians and do their bit for the entertainment of the national convention next July.

Some fifty members having gone into the service of Uncle Sam, the Hibernians of New Haven, Conn., are to unfurl a service flag from the club rooms in their honor.

The three Montgomery county divisions have been merged into one organization, to be known as Division 1 of Dayton, Ohio. This gives the division a membership of over 400.

Members of Division 3 are expected to now become active by attending at meetings and securing applications for membership. There is a wide field for work, and with little effort our numbers could be doubled.

Milwaukee Hibernians have declared against all acts of disloyalty and approves this country's struggle for world liberty. They are ready to fight for her shoulder to shoulder with England, France and the other allies whatever the consequences.

Division 6 of Indianapolis had the best Hibernian social ever given in Marion county. Capt. P. J. Kelleher in an eloquent and patriotic address touched current conditions and the loyalty of the Irish in America from the dark days of the Revolution to the present time. The Irish race would lead in saving the republic in the future, as they did in the past and are doing in the present. He denounced the bigots who attack the race or question their loyalty.

YOUNG LADIES' SOCIAL.

The Young Ladies' Sociality of St. Ann's church will give a Thanksgiving social next Wednesday afternoon and evening at the school hall, Seventh and Davies avenue, the usual games to be at 2:30 and 8 o'clock. Arrangements have been made for the distribution of a large number of prizes, and many turkeys will also be disposed of. Be sure to take the Sixth street car to Davies avenue, the end of the line.

MOURN HER DEATH.

A pall of gloom overshadowed the church of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America last Sunday when it became known that Miss Elizabeth McCloud had gone to her eternal reward. For years she had been an active and respected figure in Catholic society circles. She is survived by a sister, Miss Mary McCloud, and a brother, James McCloud. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Patrick's church, attended by many mourning friends.

ST. CECILIA'S.

A branch of the Holy Name Society has been organized in St. Cecilia's parish, with Rev. John Fallon as Spiritual Director, that promises to soon have a large membership. The officers are John J. Lynn, President; Joseph Gruber, Secretary; Leo Connolly, Treasurer.

On the night of November 27 there will be a mammoth minstrel show in St. Cecilia's Hall, the proceeds to be given to the St. Vincent de Paul Society for the relief of the poor.

REAL ENJOYMENT HERE.

The members of St. Agnes church are eager to meet all their friends next Wednesday at the school hall, Newburgh road and Speed avenue, both afternoon and evening. Euchre and lotto will be played, games be-

TAKES NEW PLACE.

James L. Nevin, for the past four years a deputy under County Clerk Mrs. Ray, and one of the most popular young men about the Court House, resigned his position Tuesday to become associated with the Federal Coal Company at Pineville. Mr. Nevin left with his family Thursday night for Pineville, where he will make his future home. He is a son of Joseph Nevin and a well known and efficient young man.

A DISTINCT LOSS.

The resignation of Police Lieut. John M. Maloney, head of the mounted police, is a distinct loss to

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

Milwaukee Council contributed $100 to the Y. M. C. A. war fund.

Price Hill Council, Cincinnati, held an initiation Sunday, the second of the year.

Nebraska Knights are this week pushing their campaign for $75,000 for the war fund.

Council 40 at Columbus, Ohio, has gathered in $2,550 more than its quota for the war fund.

Rev. William J. Corboy, S. J., of Creighton University, will serve as Knights of Columbus chaplain at Camp Funston.

The Knights of Columbus are flourishing at Biloxi, Miss., where many applications for membership are being received.

Carroll Council, of Wheeling, has sixty-five members in the national service, the largest number of any society in that city.

Members of Salt Lake City Council subscribed $65,000 to the second Liberty loan bonds, of which $2,000 was from the council treasury.

Supreme Knight Flaherty says $5,000,000 will be collected in addition to the $3,000,000 now being raised for work in army cantonments.

There is talk of the two councils in Cleveland combining for the erection of a commodious club house, each to remain separate otherwise.

Indianapolis Knights will Hooverize their annual Thanksgiving dance. There will be only simple decorations and no special features, and for the first time members may invite their friends.

Last Sunday at Camp Upton, N. Y., Col. Theodore Roosevelt addressed the negro soldiers in the K. of C. building. Referring to San Juan Hill, he said he "was mighty glad to see them there."

There is much activity in Oklahoma. An initiation was held Sunday at Oklahoma City, and one is announced for the first Sunday in December at Enid, and on the second Sunday at Lawton. And in the near future a new council will be instituted either at Cushing or Drumwright.

TURKEYS IN PLENTY.

The ladies of St. Columba's church, Thirty-fifth and Market, have secured a large number of turkeys for distribution at their Thanksgiving social Wednesday afternoon and evening. They will also serve a warm supper from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. A beautiful kitchen cabinet will be awarded and the evening tally prize will be a fine turkey. Games will begin at 2:30 and 8 o'clock. The vegetable baskets will be another attraction.

BOY FRACTURES ARM.

William Dennes, eight years old, son of William Dennes, for four years Deputy Clerk of the Police Court, fell down the stairs at his home, 517 East Ormsby avenue, Monday and sustained a compound fracture of his left arm. His father had been ill for several days and is confined to his bed.

SOLDIER IS STRICKEN.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gavin, 148 Spring street, Jeffersonville, received information Wednesday that their son, Thomas Gavin, is in a critical condition at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., where he recently was transferred from Camp Zachary Taylor. He was one of the Jeffersonville men drafted and became a member of Company H, 335th United States Infantry.

The information received was to the effect he was suffering from hemorrhages and his condition was regarded with alarm.

ST. ELIZABETH'S.

The people of St. Elizabeth's parish will have a free Thanksgiving social for the benefit of their church on Wednesday and Thursday in the church building. Wednesday afternoon will be for the children. Euchre and lotto will be played Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon, and Thursday night will be given to general amusements. A hassenpfeffer supper will be served the first evening and chicken supper Thursday night. The door prizes will be $2.50 gold pieces.

RETRAIT FOR SISTERS.

The retreat made by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd at the convent on Eighth street came to a close with an impressive ceremony on Wednesday. The exercises were conducted by Rev. Father Sylvian, of the Passionist order.

TWO AND TWO.

The St. Xavier College football eleven will have for opponents the cadets from K. M. L. this afternoon on the field at Lutz Park. These teams are pretty evenly matched, but Coach Bill Duffy, of the Saints, is expecting a close game and believes his green and gold warriors can conquer the team turned out by the Kentucky Military Institute.

FOOTBALL.

Major Curley, of Boston; Mayor-elect Hyland, of New York; Mayor-elect Magee, of Pittsburgh, and perhaps Mayor-elect Galvin, of Cincinnati, are Catholics. Two are Democrats and two Republicans.
